GLEN TAYLOR

OWNER

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA owner to a list that already included international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full year season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor installed Rob Moor, Roger Griffith and Chris Wright to run the business functions of the franchise, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to develop the team. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball and the addition of general manager Jim Stack and head coach Dwane Casey, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor Companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 19 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 14,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service, Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation.

Taylor's business savvy has been recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its Executive of the Year (1987), and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Minneapolis/St. Paul, who awarded him with their Sales Executive of the Year Award (1999). He was also inducted into the Minnesota Hall of Fame (2002) by Twin Cities Monthly Magazine.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was instrumental in providing leadership in the areas of higher education, child care and economic development policies.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also has served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

KEVIN McHALE

VP OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

On February 12, 2005, McHale added the title of head coach to his already impressive resume, becoming the sixth bench leader in team history. He took over for Flip Saunders, who was relieved of his coaching duties. Under McHale, the Timberwolves went 19-12 down the stretch in 2004-05.

In the summer of 2005, McHale engineered a number of transactions to help the Wolves improve in the tough Western Conference. Through drafting, trades and free agent signings, McHale landed Rashad McCants, Marko Jaric and Nikoloz Tskitishvili. Additionally, McHale hired longtime Seattle SuperSonics associate head coach Dwane Casey to become the team's seventh head coach.

McHale's constant desire to improve the Timberwolves and his single-minded focus to win mirrors the attitude he exhibited during his Hall of Fame career with the Boston Celtics.

One of McHale's most heralded moves came on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, the Wolves were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett.

McHale has had a history of success in the game of basketball. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game. In college, he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game in four seasons at the University of Minnesota, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1979 and 1980. And in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick success with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the team's entire basketball operations department, overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

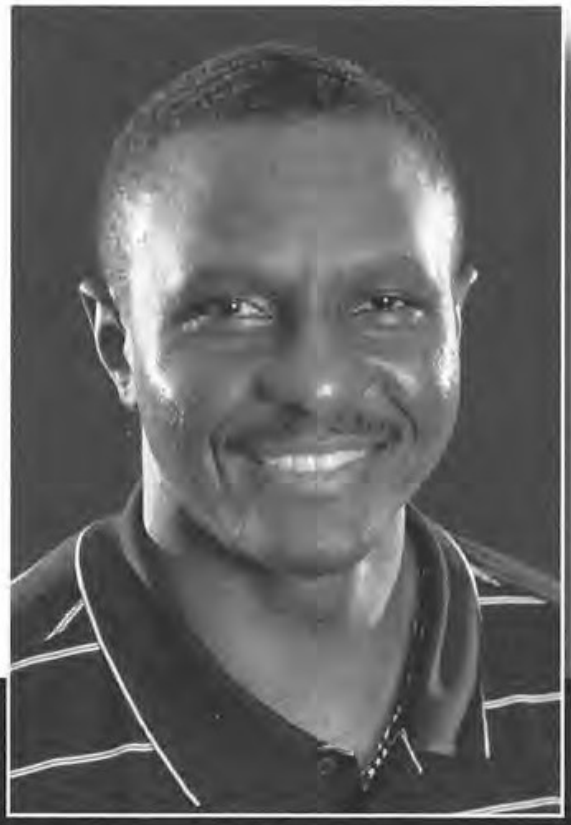
In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly created position of assistant general manager.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played 13 seasons as a power forward for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6-10 forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 career regular-season games. He shot 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 postseason contests, McHale increased his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

On Oct. 1, 1999, Kevin McHale was recognized for his achievements with the Celtics by being inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. In the typical McHale style, he gave credit to his teammates for helping him to get there. But no one goes into the Hall of Fame without a lot of hard work and personal accomplishment.

In addition to being named to the Basketball Hall of Fame, McHale has received other honors for his basketball prowess. On July 8, 2000, he was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame. During the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, he was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport.

McHale and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.



DWANE CASEY

HEAD COACH

On June 17, 2005 the Minnesota Timberwolves announced the hiring of Dwane Casey as the seventh head coach in the franchise's 16-year history.

Casey joins the Wolves' organization after spending the past 11 seasons as a member of the Seattle SuperSonics' coaching staff, including the past four seasons as associate head coach. He was promoted to associate head coach in November of 2000, when Nate McMillan was named head coach.

"We were really committed to going out there and getting what we felt was the right man for the job and we feel we have," said Timberwolves vice president of basketball operations Kevin McHale at the press conference to announce Casey as head coach. "We wanted to hire the right man and Dwane Casey's the right man for the job."

"It's been a long time coming for me," Casey said at the press conference. "I've come up through the trenches. I feel like I paid my dues and I look forward to coming to an exciting team. It's unusual for a new hiring like this because of the fact that the Timberwolves are not broke. They had a hiccup last season (2004-05). I look forward to the opportunity to work with Glen (Taylor), work with Kevin (McHale) and get this thing back on track. We want to be a hard working team every night."

Casey arrived in Seattle for the 1994-95 campaign after spending five years as a head coach in Japan. During his overseas tenure, he coached Japan's National Team with basketball legend Pete Newell. In the summer of 1998, Casey coached the team to its first World Championship appearance in 31 years. He has conducted numerous camps/clinics around the world including: Kenya, Australia and Japan.

"It's tremendous to have a guy like Kevin (Garnett) and I'm looking forward to that because throughout my career I've had guys like Gary Payton, Shawn Kemp, Detlef Schrempf, Sam Perkins - star players," Casey said. "It's great to have a hub, a superstar like Kevin Garnett who is one of the best players in the world. And I like to say the world because the NBA game has gone global. All of our players are very fortunate to have a guy like that to play with and for us to build around."

Prior to his coaching stint in Japan, Casey was an assistant coach under Eddie Sutton at the University of Kentucky from 1985-90. He also served as an assistant coach under Clem Haskins at Western Kentucky University from 1980-85.

"Something that I've always tried to do as a coach, whether it was recruiting in college, whether it was coaching offense and defense in Seattle - is to make players accountable," Casey said. "That should be an easy thing to do, but sometimes it's a day-to-day task in practice. The thing you want to try and do is be consistent. That's one thing that our players will find out, that I will be consistent as far as accountability is concerned. I think this is a league where you have to be consistent in what you say and how you say it and players will know what's expected of them."

Casey played collegiately at Kentucky and helped the Wildcats register a 30-2 record his junior season and capture the 1978 NCAA Championship. A four-year letterman, Casey was named team captain his senior year and won Kentucky's all-academic award.

NOVEMBER (8-5)

The Timberwolves opened the 2004-05 campaign with largely the same roster intact from the previous season, with the addition of key free agents Anthony Carter and Eddie Griffin. Minnesota tipped off the season with a 95-89 win over New York on Nov. 3, marking the franchise's fifth consecutive Opening Day win and 10th consecutive victory in a Home Opener. Minnesota renewed a rivalry that was formed in the 2004 NBA Playoffs with Denver the following night, falling 94-92 to the Nuggets in overtime on the road. After starting 2-2, the Wolves won four-of-five, including a 108-97 win over Miami at home on Nov. 16 and an 83-82 victory at Dallas on Nov. 22. In the latter game, the Wolves rallied from a 12-point deficit in the final 4:15 with Kevin Garnett sinking the go-ahead free throws with :05.9 remaining. After losses to Seattle (Nov. 23) and Indiana (Nov. 25), Minnesota closed out the month with a home win over Memphis (Nov. 26) and another in Sacramento (Nov. 28). The triumph at ARCO Arena halted a seven-game Kings' winning streak. Garnett earned Player of the Week honors for the period ending Nov. 7, after averaging 27.3 ppg and 16.7 rpg in Minnesota's first three contests. Included in that stretch was a 28-point, 20-rebound performance on Opening Night vs. New York. Additionally, he posted a 20/20 night vs. Miami, registering 25 points and 21 boards.

DECEMBER (8-6, 16-11)

Minnesota began December in the midst of a four-game West Coast swing. After defeating the Kings on Nov. 28, the Wolves went on to beat Golden State (Dec. 1), Phoenix (Dec. 3) and the Los Angeles Clippers (Dec. 4). The win over Los Angeles extended Minnesota's winning streak to five games and marked the first time in franchise history that the team had gone undefeated on a four-game road trip. After dropping a home game to Dallas (Dec. 7), the Wolves once again altered the record books with a 119-84 win at Philadelphia on Dec. 8. The 35-point margin of victory was the Wolves' all-time largest in a road game. The team also set club records for three-pointers made and attempted (15-for-34). Eddie Griffin, returning to his hometown, connected on seven treys en route to a career-high 27 points. Minnesota backed up the win with another victory over the Kings at Target Center on Dec. 10, as Garnett exploded for 35 points, 18 rebounds and nine assists. After winning five-of-six to begin the month, the Wolves continued to take care of business at home with wins over Portland (Dec. 14), the Los Angeles Clippers (Dec. 17) and Washington (Dec. 26). However, Minnesota dropped five straight road games to close out the calendar. Wally Szczerbiak provided an offensive spark in December, leading the team in scoring in four of the final seven games, including 28- and 29-point efforts against Portland (Dec. 14) and Los Angeles (Dec. 17), respectively.

JANUARY (8-9, 24-20)

The Wolves passed a number of milestones to ring in the new year. Latrell Sprewell tallied his 16,000th career point vs. Memphis on New Year's Day. Garnett erupted for a franchise-record 47 points three nights later vs. Phoenix (Jan. 4). Garnett also grabbed his 8,000th career rebound against Orlando on Jan. 12. However, all three achievements came in Wolves losses, as the squad dropped six-of-seven contests to begin the 2005 portion of the schedule. The lone win in that stretch vs. Philadelphia (Jan. 7), came at a cost, as the team lost both Sam Cassell (hamstring) and Mark Madsen (fractured thumb) to injuries. Minnesota appeared to right the ship after posting back-to-back wins at Denver (Jan. 14) and at home vs. Portland (Jan. 15), but then dropped a pair of games vs. Toronto (Jan. 17) and at the Los Angeles Lakers (Jan. 19). The Wolves responded by stringing together their second five-game winning streak of the season. The span included back-to-back wins in Seattle (Jan. 21) and Portland (Jan. 22), followed by home victories over defending NBA champion Detroit (Jan. 24), Atlanta (Jan. 26) and Utah (Jan. 28). Szczerbiak poured in 34 points in the win at Seattle, a franchise record for a non-starter, and combined with Troy Hudson (20), Fred Hoiberg (11) and Griffin (7) to set a club-record 72-point bench effort.

FEBRUARY (4-9, 28-29)

The Wolves dropped their first five contests and six-of-seven games to begin February. After losses at Milwaukee (Feb. 1), vs. Phoenix (Feb. 2), vs. Houston (Feb. 4), vs. Boston (Feb. 6), at Memphis (Feb. 8) and at Utah (Feb. 11), the team relieved Flip Saunders of his head coaching duties on Feb. 12. Saunders was the second-longest tenured coach in the league, having led the Wolves for 10 seasons. He had accumulated a 411-326 record (.558) at the Wolves' helm. Vice President of Basketball Operations Kevin McHale assumed the coaching duties for the remainder of the season. McHale's coaching career began with an 87-83 loss vs. Chicago on Feb. 13, before the Wolves strung together consecutive home victories heading into the All-Star break against New Jersey (Feb. 15) and Cleveland (Feb. 17). Garnett tallied 10 points in 16 minutes as the Wolves' lone representative at the 54th annual All-Star Game in Denver. Coming out of the break, Minnesota embarked on a three-game West Coast swing. The squad dropped back-to-back games against the Los Angeles Clippers (Feb. 24) and Seattle (Feb. 25), before defeating Portland (Feb. 27). The win was the Wolves' fourth over the Trail Blazers in 2004-05, marking the first time in franchise history that Minnesota had swept the season series against Portland.

MARCH (10-5, 38-34)

After a loss at home to Golden State (March 2) to open the month, the Wolves strung together consecutive wins over Milwaukee (March 4) and at Boston (March 6). The latter coming on Sprewell's game-winning baseline runner with :00.9 remaining. After taking care of business at home versus the expansion Charlotte Bobcats (March 8), the squad entered a stretch in which it took on seven then-playoff-bound opponents in 11 days. The Wolves went just 3-4 in that stretch, with wins at Orlando (March 11), vs. Dallas (March 15) and vs. Houston (March 20). Minnesota needed to be near perfect down the stretch to remain in the playoff hunt, and did just that, closing out the month with a five-game winning streak to pull within striking distance of Memphis and Denver for the eighth and final playoff spot in the Western Conference race. The run included home wins over Houston (March 20), New Orleans (March 23) and the Los Angeles Clippers (March 27) and road triumphs against New Jersey (March 26) and the Los Angeles Lakers (March 31). The streak was fueled by Cassell's return to health, as he averaged 17.2 ppg during the run, after sitting out eight of the month's first 10 games with a strained hamstring. Garnett averaged 23.5 ppg, 13.7 rpg and 5.4 apg during March, and was named Western Conference Player of the Month.

APRIL (6-4, 44-38)

Minnesota won consecutive games three times in April, but the run fell just short as Minnesota failed to earn a postseason berth for the first time in nine years. After a month-opening loss in Phoenix (April 1), the Wolves beat the Kings in Sacramento (April 3) for the second time this season, taking the season series 3-1. In the win, Garnett clinched his sixth consecutive season with averages of 20+ points, 10+ rebounds and 5+ assists. The feat moved him past Larry Bird to become the only player in NBA history to post such numbers in six seasons. After another record-setting win vs. Utah (April 6), in which the Wolves limited the Jazz to a franchise-low eight first-quarter points, Minnesota dropped back-to-back games vs. Denver (April 8) and at Atlanta (April 9). The Wolves' playoff hopes lingered for another week, as they beat Golden State (April 13) at Target Center and Utah (April 15) at the Delta Center to stay in the hunt. But, a home loss to Seattle (April 17) ended the team's playoff aspirations. Minnesota activated second-year forward Ndudi Ebi for the final two contests, and he averaged 13.5 ppg and 8.0 rpg as the Wolves finished the year with victories at New Orleans (April 18) and vs. San Antonio (April 20). The two wins brought the Wolves' record to 44-38 and left them a game behind Memphis for the final playoff spot in the Western Conference. Garnett finished the season as the league's leading rebounder (1108; 13.5 rpg), and Fred Hoiberg ended the year ranked first in the NBA, and in Wolves history, with a .483 three-point field-goal percentage.

The Timberwolves sold out six of their 41 regular-season home games at the newly-reconfigured (capacity 19,356) Target Center for the 2004-05 season, drawing an average of 17,181 per date. Minnesota also ranked as the NBA's sixth-best road attraction last year, averaging a franchise-record 17,874 per road start.

Minnesota surpassed the 10-million mark in all-time home attendance on Nov. 18, 2003 vs. Denver (its 563rd home date), becoming the second-fastest franchise in league history to reach that plateau. The Wolves set an all-time NBA single-season record by drawing 1,072,572 fans (an average of 26,160) to the Metrodome in their inaugural 1989-90 campaign.

The largest attendance ever for a Timberwolves game was 49,551 on Apr. 17, 1990, for the club's final Metrodome appearance (vs. Denver). Minnesota drew a Target Center-record crowd of 20,391 for its Mar. 12, 2004 game against the L.A. Lakers. The Timberwolves' smallest-ever home attendance was 9,954 for the Nov. 15, 1995 game vs. San Antonio.

WOLF TALES

The Wolves and Wizards split the two-game series in 2004-05, after Minnesota had swept the home-and-home set the previous three seasons... Minnesota has now won eight of the last 10 meetings, after dropping 10 of the previous 12 contests... Washington leads the all-time series by a 17-13 margin... In last season's first meeting, Wally Szczerbiak scored 23 points and Sam Cassell added 22 in the Wolves' 109-74 win over Washington (Dec. 26) at Target Center... Szczerbiak added nine rebounds and six assists for Minnesota, while Kevin Garnett finished with 18 points, 12 rebounds, eight assists and four blocks... Gilbert Arenas' 21 points led the Wizards, while Larry Hughes chipped in 13 points... In the sequel, Arenas had 16 of his 40 points in the fourth quarter and Washington scored the game's final nine points to edge the Wolves, 117-114, (Jan. 8) at MCI Center... Two Latrell Sprewell free throws made the score 114-108 with 1:49 remaining, but Arenas cut the margin in half with a three pointer, and hit two free throws for a 115-114 lead with 27 seconds left... Garnett led Minnesota with 25 points, 19 rebounds and eight assists, while five other Wolves reached double figures in scoring.

ACTIVE ROSTER SIZE

Each team agrees to have twelve players on its Active List and to have a minimum of eight players on the bench for all regular season games. Any team may from time to time as appropriate, but for no more than two consecutive weeks at a time during the regular season, have eleven players on its Active List.

INACTIVE ROSTER SIZE

Each team agrees to have one player on its Inactive List for all regular season games. Any team may from time to time as appropriate, but for no more than two consecutive weeks at a time during the regular season, have no players on its Inactive List.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On Jan. 5, 2006, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 2:00 p.m. Central time on Feb. 23, 2006. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT

A player who is free to sign with any team.

RESTRICTED FREE AGENT

If a free agent is "restricted," then his prior team has a "right of first refusal" that enables it to match an offer made to the free agent by another team. Thus if a restricted free agent wishes to sign with a new team he must first present his prior team with an "offer sheet" that contains the terms of his proposed contract with the new team. The prior team then has seven days to decide whether it will sign the player on the terms contained on the offer sheet or let the player sign with the new team.

OPTIONS

A provision negotiated in a contract that allows that contract to be extended one year beyond the scheduled end of that contract. The negotiated option can be either a team or player option.

NBADL WORK ASSIGNMENTS

An NBA team may at any time assign a player on its Active List or Inactive List to a NBA Development League ("NBADL") team, provided that the player has either zero or one years of service at the time of the assignment. Upon such assignment ("NBADL Work Assignment"), the player will be placed on the NBA team's Inactive List, and shall report to the NBADL team (and render for the NBADL team such services as the player is required to render for the NBA team under his Uniform Player Contract), and at the direction of the NBA team, subsequently return and report to, and resume the performance of services for, the NBA Team. An NBADL Work Assignment commences when the player reports in-person to the NBADL team, and ends either when the player, upon being recalled, reports back to his NBA team or when the NBADL season concludes. No player will be given more than three NBADL Work Assignments during any NBA season.

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the six division winners and the next five teams in each conference according to their won-lost record, regardless of division. Each round is best-of-seven games. In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 1 through 8 (see note below). The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. All other series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series. Last season, the first-round changed from a best-of-five series to a best-of-seven series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Teams 2 and 3 are the division winner with the next two best records respectively. Teams 4-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES
FASTBREAK
Foundation

A spirit of giving and community involvement has helped define the Timberwolves organization for 16 years. While players and coaches come and go, the Minnesota Timberwolves FastBreak Foundation has remained a steady community partner by contributing thousands of dollars and hundreds of player appearances to help charitable causes in our region.

The mission of the FastBreak Foundation is to provide and support hands-on programs that positively impact Minnesota youth. Through giving, education, and basketball opportunities, the Foundation enables young people to make responsible decisions, contribute to their future, and experience life-long memories.

Read to Achieve

The National Basketball Association and the Timberwolves have partnered to implement Read to Achieve - a year-round literacy program campaign to help young people develop a life-long love for reading and encourage adults to read regularly with children. The program includes monthly Reading Time Outs, a book donation program and the renovation of two Reading and Learning Centers. Reaching an estimated 50 million children a year, Read to Achieve is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports. The program is sponsored by American Family Insurance and Optimum Mortgage Services.

Timberwolves Black History Month Celebration

During the 2005-06 season, the Timberwolves will launch their first-ever Black History Month Celebration, presented by American Family Insurance. The program will include a creative contest awarding three trips for two to Atlanta for the best drawing, poem and essay. The winners will visit the King Center and other area historical sites and finish their trip by attending the Timberwolves versus Atlanta Hawks game. The team will host four one-hour panel discussions at local high schools in the Twin Cities metro area. The panel will consist of prominent, local African-American community figures and a Timberwolves personality.

Other FastBreak Foundation Education programs include: Lunch Learners presented by American Family Insurance and Solera and the Timberwolves FastBreak Foundation & American Family Insurance Scholarships.

This season, these efforts will be called WolvesCare presented by Just Born! makers of Hot Tamales and Mike & Ikes candies, and will include a hospital tour and special game-day opportunities for our special fans.

FastBreak Foundation Mini Camp

The FastBreak Foundation Scholarship Camp gives underprivileged youth the unique opportunity to attend a Timberwolves camp. Youth are selected through various agencies throughout the Twin Cities area and are invited to a mini camp at one of the team's refurbished courts.

Point Guard Program

The Minnesota Timberwolves Point Guard Program is an opportunity for youth basketball teams to raise funds by selling the Timberwolves game program at every home game. Proceeds from the sale of the game program also benefit the Minnesota Timberwolves FastBreak Foundation. During the 2004-05 season nearly $20,000 was raised for more than 35 youth basketball teams.

Timberwolves Ten

This annual awards program recognizes Minnesota's 10 best senior high school basketball players. Five boys and five girls are selected each season by a blue ribbon panel. Timberwolves Ten is presented by The Schwan Food Company.

Other FastBreak Foundation Basketball programs include: Jr. Wolves camps and clinics.

NBA Community Outreach

The dedication of the NBA, its teams and players to the improvement of communities around the world has a long history and tremendous reach.

The league's implementation and execution of its Read to Achieve program impacts and inspires children and their families to develop a life-long love of reading. The NBA family has placed reading and children's education at the forefront of its community work by donating millions of dollars, extensive resources and countless volunteer hours to the promotion and sponsorship of literacy initiatives. In addition, through the internationally acclaimed Basketball without Borders program, the NBA reaches people all over the world.

Through the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program, the NBA positively impacts millions of kids and their parents on a year-round basis by stressing fundamental basketball skill development, teamwork, sportsmanship and positive adult participation. The Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA provides a support structure that encourages participation and makes youth basketball fun and rewarding for players, coaches, officials and parents.

As the world's greatest athletes, NBA players are dedicated to the community and committed to giving back in extraordinary ways. Through their foundations, camp efforts and charitable work, they make a difference for thousands of non-profit and youth-serving organizations. Each month, the NBA honors one of its players who has achieved outstanding accomplishments in the community, with the Community Assist Award and the David Robinson plaque, which represents the standard and legacy set by the NBA Legend. Additionally, the NBA and WNBA each present an annual Sportsmanship Award to a player who best represents the ideals of sportsmanship.

In addition to youth sports and education, the NBA also supports numerous causes and organizations that positively impact communities, including but not limited to: The Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund; UNICEF; The National Wheelchair Basketball Association; The National Civil Rights Museum; Gallaudet University; The National Underground Railroad Freedom Center; and the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS.

NBA CITY

On September 22, 2005, NBA City Restaurants, the NBA's venture into themed dining, signed an agreement to open an NBA-themed restaurant in Target Center. The new NBA City in Target Center is set to open February 2006, in conjunction with NBA All-Star 2006 taking place in Houston.

NBA City provides a complete entertainment package, including an interactive game area where guests can test their basketball skills, a retail store where guests can shop for their favorite NBA merchandise, and a restaurant where diners can enjoy great food and drink while watching their favorite sporting events and programming produced by the NBA exclusively for NBA City.
